SLOWLY INCREASING.

Business Gradually Growing Better Every Day.

DUN & COMPANY'S REPORT.

Financial or Revenue Disputes Do Not Disturb the Actual Transactions of Business—More Works Have Resumed Than Have Stopped—The Metal Market Is Still Weak—Decrease in Failures.

NEW YORK, March 3.—R. G. Dun & Company's weekly review of trade says: With no more definite information than a week ago regarding the outcome of financial or revenue disputes, perhaps more people have come to the belief that the end will answer their wishes. Certainly rather more are taking limited risks in business, especially in stocks. A substantial basis is the slowly growing demand for goods caused by gradual exhaustion of stocks held by dealers, and this has further enlarged the working force in manufactures.

More works have resumed or increased hands or hours than have stopped or reduced, but numerous reductions in wages continue to lessen the purchasing power of those at work. The demand from distributors is almost exclusively for medium or low priced woolen and cotton goods, for $1.50, and not $3, boots and for shoes rather than boots. Some salesmen and traders find indications that stocks of the higher priced goods remaining on hand are much larger than usual. The bankers judge that much of the demand for commercial loans is virtually for renewals to carry such unsold stocks.

Sharp reductions in Indian Head sheetings and Amoskeag tickings cause larger trading, but print cloths are accumulating and weak, and several mills of importance have been closed. In all branches of woolen manufacture the demand is yet far below the usual mark, but it is somewhat improved in worsteds and dress goods, and leading mills have been taking wool quite largely, so that in three chief markets the sales have been 4,898,200 pounds for the week, against 5,198,200 pounds last year, in part because scarcely any foreign wool has been imported for months, and supplies are short. Western markets are also broader without improvement in price.

Continued weakness appears in prices of metal products, notwithstanding some increase in actual business. Pittsburgh offers steel bars here at 1.15, which is only one cent at the mill; plates at 1.25 at tidewater, and beams delivered here at 1.85. Moderate orders for cast pipe have been placed, and some large structural contracts, with others expected. Even in the Pittsburgh region little over half the force is employed, and only 57 per cent of the Connellsville coke ovens are yet in operation. A few more furnaces are in blast; southern pig is weaker, and 5,000 tons southern warrants have been taken by English holders, who now have 45,000 tons. There are heavy transactions in lake ore at Pittsburgh and it is said that with ore at $2.75, coke at 85 cents and wages reduced 20 per cent, many furnaces can make iron at a profit even at present prices.

Minor metals are weaker, tin in part, because of the fall in silver and disorganized eastern exchanges, and lead because of expected legislation. Shipments of boots and shoes from Boston show a decrease of only 8 per cent for the week, which is the best for a long time, and there is more buying, but almost exclusively of medium or low priced goods. Receipts and exports of wheat for the week have been only about half last year's, while there is a great increase both in receipts and exports of corn, but scarcely any change is seen in prices of these or other products.

Cotton receipts for the week still slightly above last year's: the fall in silver and the closing of some mills hinder a rise in prices.

Railway tonnage from Chicago was but 21 per cent less than last year, against 35 per cent for February. Imports of merchandise still show a decrease of 40 per cent, while exports of domestic products for three weeks are 5 per cent larger than last year. The buying power of the people is necessarily restricted, with many works idle and wages much reduced, and apprehensions for the future cause general economy.

The most encouraging feature of the week's record is the continued decrease in number and importance of failures. For the third week of February liabilities thus far reported are only $2,886,346, and for three weeks of the month only $11,420,418, of which $5,045,847 were of manufacturing and $6,281,693 of trading concerns. The number reported in February is 1,260, against 2,050 in January, and the full liabilities were probably less than $15,000,000, against $50,946,497 in January. In November and December the amount exceeded $60,000,000.

For the past week the failures have been 246 in the United States, against 206 last year, and 42 in Canada, against 45 last year, scarcely any being of much importance.

PROPOSED CUT VOTED DOWN.

Indiana Miners Will Not Consent to a Reduction of the Scale.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., March 3.—The bituminous coal miners, delegates of district No. 11, comprising all of Indiana and part of Kentucky, voted 29 to 17 against any reduction in the price of mining on the contract which expires on May 1. That contract calls for 70 cents per ton, and the operators wanted the scale reduced to 50 cents in order to meet similar cuts in Ohio and Pennsylvania.

The miners say the operators never named a contract in favor of the miners, and the miners see no reason why they should voluntarily reduce their own wages on a contract still in existence. A new scale will have to be arranged May 1. The operators take their rebuff very badly, and a bitter feeling is already the result.

The miners elected officers for the ensuing year as follows: President, Joseph Dunkerly of Clinton; vice president, George Furioli of Cannelburg; secretary and treasurer, J. H. Kennedy of Terre Haute; executive board, T. G. Morgan of Linton, John Griffith of Dugger, Dan Lowellyn of Clinton and I. N. Cassidy of Cannelburg.

MORE TROUBLE IN BRAZIL.

President Peixoto Issues Two Important Decrees.

RIO JANEIRO, March 3.—On all sides here people are congratulating themselves that the election passed off quietly, but the action taken by President Peixoto yesterday would seem to denote that further trouble is brewing and that the end of the wearisome revolution is not so near at hand as it was at first believed.

President Peixoto yesterday issued two important decrees. The first of these announcements calls for an increase in the strength of the regular army, and will therefore impose additional burdens upon the people and increase the already heavy taxation to a great degree. This increase of the strength of the regular army is said to be the first step in a movement to crush out the rebellion in this neighborhood and in the south, and should this object be attained it may be said that the additional burden which the people will be called upon to bear will after all be a blessing in disguise.

The second decree issued by the president provides that persons accused of treason shall be tried by military law, which would seem to indicate that additional repress of measures are necessary. At the same time it is announced that martial law will not be proclaimed so long as the situation remains as tranquil as it is now.

The insurgents in this vicinity now say frankly that they are fighting for their lives, and it is believed that if the Peixoto fleet was to make a bold sweep down from Bahia and engage the insurgent fleet in these waters the result would be a prompt and thorough victory for the government squadron.

Yellow fever continues to spread here: yesterday there were 91 deaths from that disease in this city and in addition 20 deaths from other fevers were recorded. To the average Brazilian this spread of yellow jack does not mean anything alarming; for, along the coast especially, people are familiar with fevers of many descriptions and are not to any great degree alarmed when the deaths rise considerably. But, to the foreign population, the spread of fever, while not distinctly alarming, is severe enough to cause everybody to wish that the thousands of soldiers about the capital were employed in cleaning the streets and in disinfecting foul places, instead of burning so much powder with so little definite result.

WOMAN HORRIBLY BURNED.

Her Clothes Caught Fire While Too Near a Cookstove.

McCOMB, O., March 3.—While Mrs. Cora Adams was preparing dinner yesterday her clothing caught fire from the cookstove. She ran screaming into a room where her mother, Mrs. Benjamin Linn, was lying sick in bed. Mrs. Linn tried to pull the burning clothes from her daughter, but in the excitement the bed caught fire. While Mrs. Linn was putting out the fire in the bed Mrs. Adams ran out into the yard enveloped in a sheet of flames.

At this moment the local freight train on the Nickel Plate came along from the east. The engineer saw Mrs. Adams and stopped the train, and with the train crew ran to the lady's rescue. They succeeded in tearing the burning clothes from her body, themselves receiving many burns in the effort. Mrs. Adams was found to be burned terribly, her left breast being almost charred, all the flesh peeling from her hands and arms. She can live only a few hours and suffers terrible agony.

More Trouble in the Coal Regions.

JACKSON, O., March 3.—With the closing of the mines in Jackson county over 6,000 miners are thrown out of work. This is the third shutdown in the present contract year, and every miner in Jackson county is idle. In the Hocking valley district wages were placed at 50 cents a ton two weeks ago, and since then the Jackson county operators notified managers that wages would be reduced to that figure. Rates for mining in the Jackson and Coalton-Wellston district have been based on the Hocking valley scale. When the Hocking scale went up the other scales went up, but the miners kick on the vice versa of the arrangement.

Fierce County Seat War.

POMEROY, O., March 3.—A fierce county seat war has broken out in Meigs county, which promises to rival some of the western wars. Syracuse, a town of 1,200 population, above here, is making strenuous efforts to wrest the capital from Pomeroiy, where the county seat has been located since 1841. The Syracuseans claim the advantage in being centrally located and able to furnish beautiful grounds. The people there are raising funds to put up the necessary buildings, which are to be donated to the county in case of the removal. The matter has already reached fever heat.

After the G. A. R. Fights.

INDIANAPOLIS, March 3.—The city has brought suit in the circuit court to recover the $17,000 Grand Army of the Republic encampment funds, $5,000 of which was paid to Secretary William Fortune of the Commercial club and $12,000 held back by the Commercial club assemblage committee. The suit is against J. W. Murphy, chairman of the finance committee; President Eli Lilley and Secretary Fortune of the club.

GLADSTONE RESIGNS.

England's Grand Old Man Wishes to Retire.

HE SO TELLS THE QUEEN.

Her Majesty Expresses Regret and Consults Him as to His Successor—Lord Rosebery Recommended and That Gentleman Is at Once Summoned to Windsor Castle.

LONDON, March 3.—By command of the queen, Mr. and Mrs. Gladstone proceeded to Windsor Castle yesterday afternoon, and still remain as the guests of her majesty. This afternoon a privy council will be held at Windsor Castle and upon this occasion Mr. Gladstone will tender his resignation of the premiership. The Earl of Kimberly, lord president of the council, Earl Spencer, first lord of the admiralty, and the other ministers with the exception of Lord Rosebery, will be present.

Mr. Gladstone is in excellent health and spirits, and spent the forenoon quietly at home. At noon the start was made for Windsor Castle. Shortly after his arrival at the castle Mr. Gladstone held a consultation with the queen. During this consultation the premier intimated to her majesty his intention to resign, but the formal tender of his resignation is deferred until after the meeting of the privy council.

In his consultation with the queen Mr. Gladstone explained fully to her majesty the reasons for his retirement. The queen expressed her regrets that the country should lose his services and offered him a peerage. This Mr. Gladstone declined to accept. Mr. Gladstone recommended that Lord Rosebery be appointed as his successor. A telegram was sent later to Lord Rosebery, who is at Epsom, summoning him to Windsor. It is understood that he will accept the premiership, but that there will be only two other changes in the cabinet.

Mr. Bayard, the United States ambassador, and Mrs. Bayard are among the guests who dined with the queen at Windsor Castle yesterday evening.

THREATEN TO BURN A BRIDGE.

More of West Virginia's Militia Ordered Out to Protect Property.

CHARLESTON, March 3.—A telegram just received by Governor MacCorkle from Division Superintendent J. M. Gill, now at Coalburg, 16 miles above here on the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad, states that the strikers from the mines near there are congregating there in large numbers, swearing that they will burn the Chesapeake and Ohio bridge on the branch road that runs from Coalburg to the Acme mines.

The object in burning the bridge is to prevent coal being shipped from the Acme mines, and thus stop the miners from working. The men there have been working for some time at a reduction and this caused the demonstration of the rioters two weeks ago.

Immediately upon receipt of the telegram Governor MacCorkle ordered out three more companies of military, with orders to proceed at once to Cabin creek. The companies ordered were the Huntington company, the Hinton company and the Ronceverte company.

Sheriff Silman also summoned a posse of seven men and proceeded on a freight train to the scene of the trouble. There are no more details at present obtainable.

No news has been received of any new developments at Eagle or Powellton. All is thought to be quiet there.

Prominent Lawyer Arrested.

NEW YORK, March 3.—W. B. Burnet, a lawyer of Cincinnati, was arrested yesterday and arraigned before United States Commissioner Shields. The charge against him is contempt of court in refusing to obey an order of the United States circuit court of Cincinnati directing him to turn over to the custody of that court certain securities amounting to about $9,000 belonging to James McWilliams of Cincinnati, who died several years ago and whose attorney Mr. Burnet had been. The prisoner was released upon $500 bail.

Last Legal Action in the Fight.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., March 3.—All the parties to the Corbett-Mitchell fight are safely out of the hands of the law. The last legal action against them in the courts was removed yesterday when Attorney General Lamar nolle prossed the case against Pugilist Charley Mitchell for "fighting by previous appointment," and also the cases against the Duval Athletic club members and others for "aiding and abetting a fight by previous appointment." This action was the logical sequence of the acquittal of Champion Corbett.

Accidental Shooting.

CLARKSVILLE, Tenn., March 3.—A sad case of accidental shooting occurred at Henrietta, this county. Arthur, the 8-year-old son of Mrs. Zach Jannett, was killed by his 14-year-old brother. The older brother picked up a shotgun that was lying on the bed and started for the door, saying he was going to shoot a bird. The brother attempted to take the gun from him, and it went off, the lead entering the little fellow's side, passing through his bowels and causing death in 15 minutes.

Stabbed in a Saloon Fight.

CHICAGO, March 3.—John Long, a contractor and well known politician, lies in the county hospital in a precarious condition suffering from a knife wound received in a saloon. Long and a hospital employee, named James Nolan, quarrelled, and the latter, after an apparent settling of the dispute, stabbed Long in the right side. He may die.

GENERAL JUBAL A. EARLY DEAD.

He Passes Away Peacefully in the Presence of His Family and Physician.

LYNCHBURG, Va., March 3.—General Jubal A. Early died last night at 10:30 o'clock. He passed away quietly in the presence of his family and physician, his kindred and several intimate friends. The old general seemed aware of his approaching end early in the day. Before noon he called for the morning papers, as was his invariable custom, and attempted to read, but found that his sight was failing. Soon after he extended his hand to Senator Daniel and calmly said: "I want to tell you goodbye, Major."

He then told his nephew, Cabell Early, farewell, after which he dropped into a quiet slumber. Later in the day, the dying veteran asked Senator Daniel not to leave the room as he wanted to talk with him about certain arrangements; but from that time he suffered such intense pain that he did not revive the subject. He met death unflinchingly with his hand resting quietly in Senator Daniel's.

JUBAL A. EARLY.

The part luck plays in making or marring men's fortunes is illustrated in General Early's career. More than once during the civil war he came very near turning the scale at important crises in favor of his people, yet he emerged from the conflict under a cloud which remained to imbitter the last 30 years of his life.

Early was a Virginian. He was born in Franklin county in 1816, graduated at West Point, served with the regulars in Florida, and with the Virginia volunteers in Mexico, and at the first Bull Run led a brigade. In his second battle, Williamsburg, Va., May 3, 1862, he was severely wounded and did not resume his command until the battle of Cedar Mountain, Aug. 19, 1862. He fought at second Bull Run and Antietam, and had the good fortune to command the line on Marye's Hill which checked the Union advance at Fredericksburg in May, 1863.

At Gettysburg he commanded a division in Ewell's corps and led the same troops in the Wilderness campaign of 1864 up to the battle of Cold Harbor. After that battle he was sent to Lynchburg to oppose General David Hunter's attacks upon that important position. After repulsing Hunter he planned an invasion of the border states. General Lee gave him full discretion in the matter, and with 12,000 men (according to Confederate historians) he crossed the Potomac at Shepherdstown the first week in July. Grant's army lay at that time in front of Petersburg, fully engaged in the effort to inclose the place with besieging lines.

So rapid were Early's movements that the Washington authorities had no forewarning of the raid. Maryland was in a state of terror. The president called out the militia of the eastern states, and after considerable urging Grant sent the Sixth corps from Petersburg to Washington. On July 9 Early defeated a force composed of the garrison of Baltimore and a division of the Sixth corps, all under General Lew Wallace, at Monocacy Junction, Md., and immediately marched to the gates of Washington. Meanwhile his cavalry detachments threatened Baltimore and destroyed the railways north of that city, but the delay caused by these operations was fatal to Early's plans. It was the 12th before he was ready to attack the Washington defenses, and then a reconnaissance showed him that they were garrisoned by veterans of the Army of the Potomac. He abandoned the movement and returned to the Shenandoah valley.

Sheridan soon confronted Early in the valley with troops from the army at Petersburg and defeated him in two battles, at Opequon and Fisher's Hill, Sept. 19 and 20. But on Oct. 19 Early surprised Sheridan's camps at Cedar Creek and came very near redeeming the valley from Union control. Sheridan saved his army by the memorable ride from Winchester and a stirring appeal to his troops.

At the opening of the spring campaign in 1865 General Custer defeated Early at Waynesboro, and Lee was compelled by public opinion to select another commander for the Confederates in the valley. After the war General Early practiced law in Richmond and New Orleans and was associated with Beauregard in managing the Louisiana lottery. He died a bachelor, having had his first romantic love affair spoiled by the fickleness of a northern girl whom he rescued from drowning at White Sulphur Springs during his cadet days.

The lovers were engaged, and the lieutenant was anticipating a happy termination of the romance, when his hopes were blasted by the receipt of a newspaper containing a notice of the marriage of his charmer to a northern man. He put aside the uniform, with its hateful associations, and left the army until war's alarms summoned him to the battlefields of Mexico. After the Mexican war he returned to civil life.

APPROPRIATION BILL.

That For Fortification Passed the House.

THE PENSION BILL TAKEN UP.

A Lively Political Discussion Follows Which Almost Terminates in a Fight.

Pennsylvania's New Congressman Sworn In—A Few Private Pension Bills Passed at the Session.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—The house yesterday entered upon the consideration of appropriation bills. The fortification bill, carrying something over $2,000,000, was passed in 25 minutes, and then the pension appropriation bill was taken up. This bill usually leads to a considerable display of political feeling, and yesterday was no exception.

An altercation occurred between Mr. Meredith of Virginia and Mr. Funk of Illinois over the former's attempt to prove that there were many fraudulent pensions on the rolls, which almost resulted in personal collision. Mr. Meredith, who was the aggressor, rushed over to the place where Mr. Funk was standing and shook his fist in the latter's face. But friends interfered, and the speaker restored order before any blows were struck.

As soon as the morning routine business was disposed of, on motion of Mr. Holman (Dem., Ind.) unanimous consent was given to swear in Hon. Galusha K. Grow as a representative-at-large from Pennsylvania, at the present time, in the absence of his credentials.

"Mr. Grow," said Judge Holman, addressing the speaker, "after serving as a representative from Pennsylvania for 12 years left the place you now so highly honor, 31 years ago, in the midst of the blood and strife of civil war. After this long period of time he returns again to the theater of public affairs, when the flag of the republic is honored and revered in all sections of the country. Inasmuch as his credentials have not yet arrived, I ask unanimous consent that he be now sworn in."

As Mr. Holman finished a burst of applause greeted the tall form of Mr. Grow as he stepped down the aisle to take his place at the bar of the house. His hair and beard are white, but his eyes are bright, his form erect, and he gives no undue evidence of the weight of years which rest upon his shoulders. Mr. Holman escorted him to the bar, where, with uplifted hand, the oath was administered. Another round of applause followed him to his seat.

Mr. Boutner asked unanimous consent for the consideration of the resolution to investigate the action of Judge Jenkins in granting the injunction against the employes of the Northern Pacific railroad. Mr. Kilgore objected, and on motion of Mr. Sayres the house went into committee of the whole. Mr. Onthwaite of Ohio in the chair, for the consideration of the fortifications appropriations bill.

Mr. Livingston, in charge of the bill, explained the provisions. The total sum carried by the bill was $2,219,654 upon an estimate of $7,438,413. The fortifications bill in the Fifty-first congress carried $1,232,937. He explained the necessity for rigid economy.

The committee rose, 25 minutes having been occupied in its consideration. It was passed, 70 to 9. The house went back in committee of the whole for the consideration of the pension appropriation bill. Mr. O'Neill of Massachusetts, in charge of the measure, explained its provisions.

The bill carried for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1895, $14,519,350 less than the bill last year. The original estimate for the coming fiscal year was $162,000,000, but it had been revised and cut down later by Commissioner Lechen.

Mr. O'Neill argued that while the appropriations for pensions might waiver for a few years the maximum of pensions appropriations had been passed and hereafter there would be a material reduction in the amount needed for pensions.

There were on the rolls in 1893, 966,012 pensioners. The annual increase had been steadily declining. The first year after the act of 1890, 140,000 had been added to the roll, the second year 100,000, the third year 60,000.

After this the bill was discussed until the heated debate between Mr. Meredith and Mr. Funk occurred, when the house adjourned.

A night session was held, at which a few private pension bills were passed.

ALL HOPE ABANDONED.

The Four Imprisoned Miners Can Not Be Rescued Alive.

ALLENTOWN, Pa., March 3.—Pritchard, Bella, Balke and Nickumec, the four entombed miners in O. T. Williams & Sons' slate quarry at Williamstown, are still buried in the tunnel where the cave-in occurred.

The rescuing party have reached a solid wall of rock, which they will have to blast through, and progress is necessarily slow. They are working 12 gangs, each taking two-hour shifts, and are laboring night and day. The rock between them and the entombed quarrymen is as solid as a wall, and, although the opening is now 20 feet, there is no trace of the imprisoned men.

The coronor's jury in the case of Samuel Kreitz brought in a verdict of accidental death. Ramsey, who was taken out alive, but horribly crushed, died soon after being taken to the St. Luke's hospital. All hope of finding the four entombed men alive has been abandoned.

SENATORS BRICE and Hill have brought more discredit to the Democratic party than any other two men in it, and it is astonishing that the real Democrats in the Senate should allow them for one minute to interfere with the work of tariff reform.

THE Cincinnati Enquirer is trying its best to create the impression that Senator Brice has succeeded in his efforts to hamper the Democrats in their work of tariff reform. When the Finance Committee reports the bill next week, it will then be known whether he has won a victory or not. The real secret of the Enquirer's and Mr. Brice's opposition is the income tax.

BREX DAVIS is charging up all the business failures and reductions of wages now to the Wilson bill and Democratic tariff tinkering. From 1881 to 1886 there were nearly 5,000 strikes against reductions of wages, and in 1883 there were over 9,000 business failures, and in 1884 over 10,000 failures—all under a Republican high tariff. If a high tariff insures high wages and business prosperity, the Ledger should explain the strikes and failures just referred to.

Specimen Cases.

S. H. Clifford, New Cassel, Wis., was troubled with neuralgia and rheumatism, his stomach was disordered, his liver was affected to an alarming degree, appetite fell away, and he was terribly reduced in flesh and strength. Three bottles of Electric Bitters cured him.

Edward Shepherd, Harrisburg, Ill., had a running sore on his leg of eight years' standing. Used three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and his leg is sound and well. John Spenger, Catawba, O., had five fever sores on his leg, doctors said he was incurable. One bottle of Electric Bitters and one box Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured him entirely. Sold by J. James Wood.

LONG AND SHORT.

Kentucky State Senators Draw Lots to Settle Their Term of Office.
Mr. Pugh Gets Two Years.

There was a lively time in the State Senate Thursday when lots were drawn for the long and short terms as provided for in the new Constitution.

Thirty-eight slips of paper were deposited in a hat. Nineteen of these bore the word "long," while the others had written on them "short." After the members had drawn their slips it was found that the members in even districts had a majority of the long terms, and according to the rule all of the Senators in even-numbered districts were accorded long terms.

The following Democrats drew long terms and will be members of the next session: R. H. Elliston, William Goebel, A. J. Gross, Thomas H. Hays, W. B. Hayward, J. H. Holloway, C. B. Martin, H. L. Martin, Joe Noe, John W. Ogilvie, John P. Salyer, W. W. Stephenson, George S. Fulton and Rozel Weissinger—14.

The successful Republicans were W. H. Bowling, W. J. Deboe, J. L. Landes, J. C. Lay and E. M. Weil—5.

The following Democrats drew short terms: Cromwell Adair, Tibbs, Carpenter, H. M. Frohman, B. D. Gardner, John D. Goodloe, John O. Hodges, Tipton A. Miller, C. B. Moore, J. J. Smoot, H. Trigg, R. T. Tyler, R. N. Wathen and John H. Weller—14.

The "short term" Republicans are William Dingus, A. R. Dyche, W. J. Hiseem, W. H. Jones, S. J. Pugh and Slade Taylor—6.

Revival at Sardis.

The revival services at M. E. Church, South, of Sardis, conducted by Rev. W. A. Penn, of Mt. Olivet, have been running with increasing interest for near three weeks.

Rev. Penn in business is diligent and punctual. He is now erecting his buildings for summer camp meeting at 'Olivet. In the social circle he is anecdotal and witty, in the pulpit he is entertaining, and never flags in interest. He quotes largely as Sam Jones does from that unique and eccentric paper, the only one of its kind on earth, The Ram's Horn, and is down on hypocrisy, meanness, bigotry and cant. He can't help being popular at home and wherever he exchanges pulpits.

Another National Holiday.

Another holiday will probably be added to the list of National celebrations.

The Congressional Committee on Labor has decided to report favorably the bill making Labor Day—the first Monday in September—a National holiday. Massachusetts was the pioneer State in declaring this day a legal holiday, but since then seventeen other States have followed in her steps.

The members of the committee think that if the eighteen States already observe the day as a holiday there is no reason why the celebration should not be made general throughout the country.

The Kentucky Club.

The Kentucky Club was organized in Washington City Thursday night. Its object is of a purely social character. Elegant quarters have been secured.

The following well-known Kentuckians were elected officers of the club for the ensuing year: C. Marshall Force, President; Joseph Blackburn, Jr., Vice President; J. D. Kehoe, Secretary; O. P. Tucker, Treasurer; W. H. Anderson, J. N. Culp, Sam M. Gaines, George H. Gardner, Fayette Montgomery and H. W. Vanzenden, Board of Directors.

The Modern Mother.

Children enjoy it and it benefits them. The true remedy, Syrup of Figs, is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only.

County Court.

William E. King qualified as guardian of Bertie A. King and Ward King, with R. N. Brooks as surety.

ANOTHER FIRE AT AUGUSTA.

Powers' Livery Stable Destroyed and Nine Head of Horses Perish in the Flames.

Augusta was visited by another fire this morning. Two buildings were burned and nine head of horses perished.

From Mr. J. W. Crambaugh, of the Reporter, it is learned that flames were discovered in James O. Powers' livery stable on Second street, about 3 o'clock.

The fire had a good start, and the building was soon burned to the ground. Nine horses perished in the flames.

The fire spread to a double frame tenement house adjoining, which was also destroyed.

The tenement house belonged to Mrs. S. E. Bradford, and was valued at about $400. The total loss amounts to $5,000 or $6,000. The stable building belonged to Ed. Gordley, and was insured for $600.

Two of the horses belonged to Judge Bradford and one to George O'Neal. Mr. O'Neal's horse was a fine saddle stallion. The fire is thought to be the work of an incendiary.

This was the third livery stable burned at Augusta of late years.

A Life Sentence.

In the fall of 1890 the house of Charles Frazier, near Sharpsburg, was broken open and robbed. There was no clew to the perpetrators of the robbery until December, 1893, when Alex. Pendulum was arrested in Fleming County for stealing geese. He was committed to jail, and when his trunk was searched a bracelet, having on it the name of Mrs. Frazier, was found. Further investigation showed beyond a doubt that Pendulum was the man who had robbed Mr. Frazier's house. He was taken to Owingsville where he was convicted on three charges of larceny this week, and was given a life sentence in the "pen."

Pendulum was a member of one of the factions in the Rowan County war several years ago, and while in jail in Owingsville, when that unhappy strife was in progress, confessed that he was one of the gang of outlaws who had been hired to assassinate Taylor Young.

A Pleasant Anniversary.

Augusta Chronicle: "Thursday was the sixtieth anniversary of the birth of our fellow-townsmen, Mr. H. B. Asbury, and he and his estimable wife were agreeably surprised by the appearance of his sister, Mrs. Sally Byars, of Minerva, and his brothers, James S. Asbury, of Fern Leaf, and T. T. Asbury and wife, of Germantown, and his son, Taylor Asbury, and wife, of Hillsdale. A very pleasant and agreeable day was spent by all present, the guests leaving in the afternoon, feeling that as the years passed by on life's uncertain journey that such reunions are calculated to draw them each nearer the other. May they all live to enjoy many reunions of the same kind."

A Household Treasurer.

D. W. Fuller, of Canajoharie, N. Y., says that he always keeps Dr. King's New Discovery in the house and his family has always found the very best results follow its use; that he would not be without it, if procurable. G. A. Dykeman, druggist, Catskill, N. Y., says that Dr. King's New Discovery is undoubtedly the best cough remedy; that he had used it in his family for eight years, and it has never failed to do all that is claimed for it. Why not try a remedy so long tried and tested? Trial bottles free at J. James Wood's drug store. Regular size 50c. and $1.00.

THE KANSAS EXODUS.

J. B. H. Gives Additional Information Concerning the Colony That Left Mason This Week.

Under the personal conduct of Major J. T. Long, real estate agent, assisted by Nate Suit, the gallant bachelor of Sardis, an expedition of six families departed from West Mason on February 28th for Northeast Kansas. Thirty-eight persons constitute the Sardis colony that will locate on the farming lands of Miami County, near the town of Lane, as follows: Wm. McKinzie (widower) and children.....6 Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Grover and family.....7 Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Dotson and family.....9 Mr. and Mrs. Luther Mulliken and family.....6 Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Reed and family.....4 Mr. and Mrs. Frank Tuel and family.....7

Tom Grover has a "good lay." He has contracted to grow and prize fifty acres of the great Mason County staple (tobacco) for Major Long; for his over-seership he is to have $45 per month, Long paying traveling expenses and footing all bills. Luther Mulliken, a good citizen, will be greatly missed, specially by his little flock, (the Church of the Disciples at Sardis), over which he and 'Squire Grigsby as co-elders have presided for so many years.

The others are small farmers of limited means who hope to do better by changing their location and taking Horace Greeley's advice when he said: "Go West, young man, and grow up with the country."

James Cumbers' (late of Mason) fine crop of tobacco, almost equal to the best Mason County leaf, and his sixty bushels of corn to the acre grown on the virgin soil of Anderson County, near Garnett, adjoining the county whither these emigrants have gone, precipitated the removing fever which impelled the Mason County boys westward.

WINCHESTER is to have an old time agricultural fair this year, says the Democrat.

THE Cincinnati Post gave a sketch, a few days ago, of A. C. Johnstone, clerk at the Dennison Hotel, and stated he married "Miss Addie Rains, of Maysville." His wife was raised at Aberdeen. Her mother, whose maiden name was Paul, was married twice, her first husband being a Mr. Rains and last, Robert Stevenson.

SPEAKING of Hon. J. T. Simon, of Cincinnati, who is mentioned as a candidate for Congress, the Augusta Chronicle says: "Mr. Simon is a good lawyer, as well as a progressive business man, helping to build up the industries of any community in which he lives. Should he conclude to enter the race the other contestants will have to look to their laurels for his energy and hustle are proverbial, and as a general thing the man that beats him, if beaten, is the winner."

BROTHER KELLAR, of the Carlisle Mercury, has been mentioned as a candidate for Secretary of State, but he says he will not have it. He says: "The office is a very high and honorable one, and one to which any man might aspire, but I desire to say to any one who cares to know, that I would not accept it if it were offered to me as a gift. The fact of the business is, I would not accept any office that would take me away from my home for four years, unless the emoluments were such as simply to overwhelm me."

REORGANIZED.

The Local Fire Insurance Agents, With Some Exceptions, "Get Together" Again.

On February 10th the local board of fire insurance agents was dissolved.

The causes leading to the dissolution of the board were given in the BULLETIN at the time. The companies had sent a special agent here who re-rated the city, and the trouble grew out of the refusal of some of the local agents to enforce the new rates, which were an increase over the old schedule.

Last Thursday, a large committee of special agents came to Maysville, and succeeded in reorganizing the board. The companies made some modification of the new rates. The board elected Dr. John T. Fleming President and Mr. C. L. Sallee Stamp Secretary.

After March 15 all the daily reports must pass under the Stamp Secretary's supervision, and must bear his stamp before the companies will accept the risk. A salary, 1 per cent of the premiums, is to be paid the Secretary by all the companies, and he will not be allowed to write any insurance.

EXPLOSION IN A COAL MINE.

Two Men Instantly Killed, Two Fatally Burned and Five Others Hurt.

KANSAS CITY, March 8.—Two men were instantly killed, two fatally burned and five others dangerously hurt in an explosion at the Kansas City Clay and Coal company's coal mine, near Leeds, six miles southeast of Kansas City, yesterday afternoon.

The dead are: Eugene Parker, colored, aged 30, and Thomas Duggins, aged 21.

The injured are: O. L. Wilson, aged 55, burned about arms, body and head; fatal. West Satterley, aged 26, legs fractured and otherwise injured by coal lift; leaves a family. William Fuller, seriously burned about arms, body and face. S. Farrell, colored, fearfully burned about body. Benjamin Mardock, colored, internal injuries, badly bruised by flying debris. William Harris, colored, burned from hips up, and William Murray white, badly bruised on back, and will die.

The mine had been in an unsafe condition for some time and had been condemned by the state mine inspector. The fans were out of repair and stopped frequently and yesterday afternoon were stopped for half an hour just before the explosion. A great amount of gas accumulated in the meantime and it is supposed the explosion was caused by one of the miners going into the chamber which was filled with the deadly gas.

There were 115 men in the mine at the time, and it is a miracle that so few were killed and injured, as they were all working in the same level.

As soon as the survivors could recover from the shock they set about rescuing their unfortunate associates, and in a few hours had succeeded in taking out all the dead and injured. Medical assistance was procured from Kansas City and a temporary hospital was prepared and the wounded were well cared for.

Several days ago a committee of miners called on the owners of the mine to make some arrangement to insure the safety of the men, but to no purpose.

The explosion was so severe that one-half the mine caved in.

TRAIN BANDITS FOILED.

An Engineer's Nerve Prevents a Train Robbery on the Rock Island Road.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., March 3.—Engineer James D. McKinney of the Rock Island saved his company a heavy loss in treasure and also escaped with his life by an exhibition of nerve last night. Passenger train No. 18, eastbound, Conductor J. A. Wisner, left the Union depot at 7:25 p. m. Three miles east of this city, and but half a mile from the place where the Rock Island was robbed two months ago, is a deep cut.

As the train glided into the cut a red lantern flashed across the track near the middle of the cut, and torpedoes exploded under the wheels. McKinney looked a little beyond the lantern and saw several men with guns, and it instantly flashed through his mind that they were robbers. His train was nearly to a standstill when he realized this fact, but he lost no time, and seizing the throttle, pulled her wide open. Then he and his fireman jumped down into the bottom of the cut, and not a minute too soon, for when the robbers saw the move, they fired a volley into the engine and cab, but luckily hurt no one.

The train dashed through amid a perfect shower of bullets, the bandits, wild with rage, firing into the coaches as they passed and creating consternation among the passengers, who crawled down under the seats and hid their valuables.

When the train reached Stockbridge it was found over 100 bullets had hit it. Messages were at once sent back to this city, and a force of police are scouring the country. There were four of the robbers in the party and they wore white masks, but none of them could be recognized. As the engine whizzed by, one of the robbers called to the engineer by name, saying: "Stop that engine, McKinney, you — —, or we will kill you," at the same time emptying the contents of two revolvers into the cab.

Could Not Stand a Jest.

KUTTAWA, Ky., March 3.—James Oliver of Lamasco, Ky., killed himself because a few of his friends joked him concerning an examination into his right to draw a pension. A special pension examiner was at Lamasco Wednesday and took Oliver's testimony. In comparing it with evidence given two years previous several discrepancies, it is alleged, were found. His friends afterward made some jesting remarks, which Oliver took seriously. Oliver went home, and after spending a sleepless night, went to the drugstore early in the morning and procured a dose of strychnine which he took with fatal effect.

Desperate Attempt to Escape.

TRENTON, March 3.—Joseph Wallwitz, alias John Malwitz, sentenced to 20 years in the state prison, saved the bars of his cell door and gained access to the corridor, where he obtained a rope. He then lassoed Keeper James T. Walters and choked him into unconsciousness. Center Keeper Joseph B. Lippincott appeared on the scene, and the convict secured the gun of the unconscious man and killed Lippincott. Wallwitz was recaptured.

A Tenant Assaults His Landlord.

PLYMOUTH, Ind., March 3.—News has been received here of an affray west of this city, in which Frank Kline was badly handled by Al McElvane. Mr. and Mrs. McElvane are tenants on Kline's farm. Mr. Kline being a single man, and the three dwelt under the same roof. A few days ago, as claimed, Mr. Kline made an improper remark concerning Mrs. McElvane, and her husband gave his landlord a frightful beating. Kline's head was pounded until it was scarcely recognizable, and the attendant physician reports there is danger of erysipelas.

Adjusted a Dispute With an Ax.

PLYMOUTH, Ind., March 3.—During a quarrel over a measurement of cordwood, which Ezra Zeigler and a friend were cutting in shares on the farm of George W. Ramsbottom, near this city, Claude Ramsbottom struck Zeigler on the head with an ax, cutting an awful gash in his head. The injury is serious. Ramsbottom is in jail awaiting the result.

FOR THE RISING GENERATION.

Very Refined Mammals Still Favor Flannels and Soft Woolen Goods.

Full coats mounted on a yoke or gathered in at the neck or shoulders are still the favorite outdoor garment for children. Sometimes the yoke is made of different material, or it is ornamented with bands of embroidery or insertion. Again it is entirely concealed by a wide collar or pelerine. The sleeves are invariably full and are gathered into a long or short cuff. Violet is a favorite color this season, and red is also much used. Hats are large and richly trimmed with feathers, while even the drawn silk bonnets have blossomed out into something almost as elaborate as a fashionable woman's reception headgear. Fur, velvet and brocade are employed both for wraps and dresses, together with the richest of silks.

In fact, all the expensive materials used for a grownup wardrobe have been brought down into the children's domain, rather to the disadvantage of the small people, whose eyes are so bright and complexions so pure that it seems unappreciative to deck them out in costly and striking stuffs and modes that distract the eye from their natural beauties. Mothers of the most refined tastes still hold to the fine flannels and pretty soft woolen goods for their children, made and trimmed in a suitably simple fashion, deferring the purple and blue linen to a later period. Soft, bright plaids are always appropriate and youthful, while nun's veiling, cashmere and fine French serge in delicate colors are quite dainty enough for festive occasions. In white or cream the latter goods wash well and so may be kept immaculate, while silken fabrics once injured are ruined forever. It is strange, but there are mothers who will not understand that a clean print frock is in better taste than a soiled finery.

A charming and at the same time simple cloak for a little child is made of blue and white striped stuff. It is gathered in at the neck, from which it falls in full folds all around. The shoulders are covered with a wide plaited pelerine, pointed back and front. The full sleeves have a pointed turned back cuff. The trimming consists of bands of swan's down, which form a pointed trimming around the lower part of the coat, border the pelerine and cuffs and encircle the neck. JUDIC CHOLLET.

Roasted His Foot While Unconscious.

WABASH, Ind., March 3.—Peter Edwards, an old resident of Converse, last night met with an accident which will cost him a foot. The old gentleman, who is subject to epileptic attacks, was sitting by the fire in his stocking feet when he was seized with a fit and fell, his right foot resting against the hot stove. He lay for a long time in this position, and when he recovered found that his foot was literally cooked. Physicians say amputation will be necessary.
